

ELEMENTS OF OPEN WARFARE IN GERMANY

Population Carrying Out Demonstrations of Violent Nature in Ruhr

GERMAN MOOD UGLY

much Place Weapons at Strategic Points; Can Wipe Out Essen if Necessary

(By the Associated Press.) All of the elements usually cited as contributory causes of open warfare in the Ruhr valley, the German population, wrought up by the rescue of the French and Belgians, elated by the arrest of the industrial leaders, have carried out demonstrations of a violent nature at various centers in the Ruhr, and the occupying forces have placed their machine guns, 75's and weapons of larger calibre at strategic points for the purpose, it is feared, of overcoming resistance that appears to be no longer passive, but extremely active.

The return of Fritz Thyssen to Düsseldorf and then to Essen was made an occasion of remarkable demonstrations, in which French cavalry and foot soldiers were called into action. There was some firing by the military, although the French are under orders not to use their rifles unless attacked.

The railroad strike is reported to be almost complete; the roads are closed up for the present and traffic all kinds is in a state of suspension. Meanwhile the French are sending into the Ruhr railway men and workers of all kinds, and promising the various public services operation without great loss of pay.

M. Le Troquer, the French minister of public works, and General Eyraud, Marshal Foch's chief of staff, are on the spot, and military measures of a stern nature are being taken to restore order in the Ruhr valley.

While M. Le Troquer declared at Düsseldorf that "France is here to see that the Ruhr valley is returned to Germany," Dr. Herme, the German minister of finance, in introducing the budget in the Reichstag at Berlin announced that Germany was fully resolved to report to every one at her disposal to frustrate the use of the policy of violence which is being pursued against her.

Essen, Jan. 25.—Never since the center entered the Ruhr or since the allied occupation of the left bank of the Rhine, has the Ruhr valley and entire Rhineland been in such a state of ebullition as tonight.

The return of Fritz Thyssen from France, which was a triumphal procession all along the Rhine from Mayence to Düsseldorf, gave rise to a more enthusiastic reception in the Ruhr than he had ever received in the heyday of his power.

Essen is the center of the great demonstration. Thousands assembled at the railroad station and also in front of the coal syndicate offices today and claimed Fritz Thyssen as a second mark. The demonstrations were limited to the singing of patriotic songs and the shouting of "hoorahs" mingled with epithets of reproach against the French.

The population, however, is in a mood of some small incident, but set off the powder magazine.

French, however, have taken all necessary measures for stern repression. Batteries of 75's and 155's of the 1st Army corps surrounding the city are posted in commanding positions.

Essen has been divided into innumerable zones to the French artillery use of the presence of French officials and citizens in these particular zones. All the rest of the city is under the French guns, which are capable of destroying it completely in case of serious organized resistance.

CONCLUDE MASKED BAND HEARINGS

Mystery Witness Testifies of Being Passed by Car Containing Robed Men

(By the Associated Press.)

Protopop, Jan. 25.—The state open hearing inquiry into the activities of masked men in the Morehouse parish ended today with the testimony of Leon Jones, a traveling man of Mobile, Ala., that one night last August a small truck containing masked men and two others who appeared to be prisoners, passed him on the road bound toward Lake La Fourche.

Some time later, he said, the cars returned. There seemed to be no prisoners. Besides Jones' testimony the principal developments of the final session were:

A statement by Attorney General Cocco that since the advent of the Ku Klux Klan in the parish there had arisen a condition of lawlessness and disorder which "had ripened into a supercession of constituted authorities by the Ku Klux Klan from which a reign of terror and chaos have resulted."

A declaration of council for members of the Klan identified in the hearing that "it was manifest from the very beginning that the real motive behind the prosecution was to convict the Ku Klux Klan in the forum of public opinion."

Announcement of the early withdrawal of state militiamen from the parish.

Promises by Attorney General Cocco that the evidence gathered at the hearing would be presented to the grand jury "for its consideration and action as soon as we can get a transcript of it."

MORATORIUM PLANS OF FRENCH REACH REPARATIONS REPRESENTATIVES; SAY GERMANY HAS FORFEITED RIGHT TO DELAY

(By the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 25.—The French delegation of the reparations commission has officially submitted to the commission the plans prepared by it in replying to the German government demand of November 14 for a moratorium.

The plan is accompanied by a supplementary note.

The French delegation believes that it should maintain its plan as an affirmation of its policy toward Germany and that it make known the condition it judges indispensable to the granting of a moratorium in case the discussion of this question should be resumed.

Nevertheless, M. Barthou and M. Delacroix, the French and Belgium representatives respectively on the commission, in view of the resistance Germany is making to the penalties imposed by the allies are in agreement in considering that since January 13, the date on which the Reich notified the reparation commission that all deliveries in the nature of reparations would cease, declare the German government has itself, by this fact, rendered its demand for a moratorium null and void.

Under these conditions M. Barthou and Delacroix will bring before the commission tomorrow a draft of Germany's general default in her obligations in regard to reparations to France and Belgium.

HUGE HAUL OF WHISKEY AND CHAMPAGNE MADE IN RAID

New York, Jan. 25.—Prohibition enforcement agents late today raided the Cosmopolitan Drug company in Christy street and seized liquors valued at $200,000, Alfred Tleman, president of the concern, and David Kahn, treasurer, were arrested.

The raid was said to have been one of the largest ever made in the state. The booty included five barrels of whiskey, 10 barrels of wine, five cases of champagne, two barrels of coloring liquor, two barrels of alcohol, wood and furniture, 400 empty alcohol cans, 225 cases of Green River whiskey, 300 empty Green River cases, 10 cases of bottle caps, 25,000 Green River whiskey labels, and a complete bottling outfit.

ORGANIZE STATE LEAGUE

Elmira, Jan. 25.—At a meeting held here tonight attended by representatives from cities in this state and Pennsylvania, tentative plans were agreed upon for the organization of an interstate baseball league. John H. Farrell, veteran official of organized baseball, was made president of the new organization. Franchises were awarded to the cities of Elmira, Binghamton, Utica, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Schenectady. The playing season, it was voted, will open May 2, with these six teams, but provision is made for the issuance of two more franchises, making an eight team circuit. The name adopted is The New York State Baseball league.

FATALITY SHOOT TREASURER

Detroit, Jan. 25.—Robert D. Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Tool company, was fatally shot late today by bandits who held him up at the company's plant and seized the pay roll of $10,000.

Anderson was shot in the head as he drew a pistol to resist the bandits, three of whom entered the building, while a fourth awaited in an automobile in which they escaped.

CHARGE 'DRY' CRUSADER WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

William H. Anderson Involved in Certain Financial Transactions of Anti-Saloon League

SPLIT COMMISSIONS

Former Official Accuses Chief of Drawing $24,000 and Charging It to 'Publicity'

New York, Jan. 25.—Long smoldering accusations of misappropriation and embezzlement, of blackmail and extortion, today burst into flame when William H. Anderson, superintendent of the New York state branch of the Anti-Saloon league and nationally known "dry" crusader, was summoned to the district attorney's office for examination.

The district attorney's aides maintained sealed lips and sealed records concerning what took place at today's quizzing.

But Mr. Anderson himself, in a statement issued tonight, revealed that an investigation of certain financial transactions within the league, and by involving funds donated by its supporters, had been started by District Attorney Blanton.

The specific accusations, alleged by the Evening Mail to have been made by O. Bertall Phillips, who until last year was chief financial field representative of the league, were:

1. That the league chief for many months, carried a private arrangement whereby he split 50-50, commissions on donations solicited by Phillips.

2. That Anderson falsified the official accounts of the league, which is a corporation, thus committing a felony.

3. That Anderson, after publicly refusing, in 1920, an increase of his $10,000 salary, drew "compensation" at $15,000 that year; that he obtained the board of directors' authority to draw from the treasury to himself $24,000 for unauthorized and unitemized "publicity."

4. That, although the league professed to pay no commissions of bonuses to solicitors of contributions, Phillips regularly received as per cent commission up to $25,000 collected annually, and 10 per cent on collections exceeding that amount; and that Anderson secretly shared these commissions, recording Phillips compensation as "salary."

To which Anderson replied with counter charges that he was being made the victim of attempted extortion and blackmail which had already cost the league, under the guise of a "settlement," $2,500 paid Phillips by the board of directors, last December.

He named Robert G. Davey, alleged member of the staff of the Lord's Day alliance, as a co-conspirator, with Phillips, but withheld the name of the third person he declared was involved.

"These charges," he said, "are the joint product of a desire for revenge on the part of three discharging employees and an attempt to extort money. The man making the charges, unimpeached financial transactions and demonstrated disloyalty. I had expected the shady transactions of another. The third man helped the one making the charges wrongfully to secure some money, restitution of which was made when we discovered it."

SENATE DISCUSSES LENROOT'S BILL

Co-Author States Measure Will Be of More Assistance to Farmers Than Copper Bill

Washington, Jan. 25.—Consideration of farm credit legislation was resumed by the senate today, the second and last measure on the farm-credit extension program, the Lenroot-Anderson bill coming up for debate with its friends hopeful of a vote early next week.

Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, co-author of the credit bill and member of the joint congressional agricultural commission, opened the discussion, citing support for the bill given by farm organizations and explaining its provisions which would go further, he said, toward providing credits to farmers than the Copper bill, passed by the senate recently.

Coincident with the starting of the Banking committee, introduced a resolution designed to open further the gates of credit to agriculturists. His resolution which went over, proposed a joint congressional commission to investigate why more banks and trust companies have not joined the federal reserve system. The commission would inquire and try into agricultural "financial condition in agricultural sections" and whether the federal reserve law or the rules and regulations of the federal reserve board should be changed to induce small banks in rural districts to join the federal system. Recommendations to congress would be made in a report by the commission not later than January 31, 1924.

CAMPBELL "DIRT FARMER."

Washington, Jan. 25.—The nomination of M. D. Campbell of Michigan to the federal reserve board as the so-called "dirt farmer" was confirmed today by the senate.

Behind Ruhr Move

"Eugene Schneider, greatest of the French ironmasters, is prominently mentioned as one of the powerful 'behind-the-scenes' figures in the Ruhr seizure. He will benefit greatly by French control of the mines."

GENERAL REVISION OF PHONE RATES

Increases in New York City, in Other Parts of State, on Average, General Reduction

Albany, Jan. 25.—General revision of rates and toll charges imposed by the New York Telephone company upon its subscribers was ordered today by the public service commission.

Increases of about $2,000,000 annually in Greater New York were effected by the orders while in other parts of the state there were, on the average, general reduction. The order came as the result of an investigation the commission has been conducting since November, 1921.

A revision of all rate schedules in New York city was directed. This affected decreases estimated at $250,000, for small users; increased rates for large users amounted to about $2,000,000; decreases in toll rates in effect in Brooklyn by about $75,000; increases in long-haul interstate toll rates in Greater New York to equalize disparities in existing rates, and makes a decrease in toll rates to suburban areas adjoining Greater New York.

The federal tax on such messages, estimated to be about $200,000.

Message rates in New York city and for the rest of the state are put on a monthly basis of settlement. The rates of the rates scheduled for exchange areas of the state outside of New York city, is made, with decreases affecting business and residence service. Buffer zone toll rates, similar to those put in effect in and around New York city, between various up state cities and adjoining communities are directed.

The company is allowed a seven per cent return on the value of its property, which is placed at $167,153,324 in New York city and $68,521,357 in the rest of the state. The largest proportion of the increases ordered in New York city will, according to the commission, be borne by individuals and corporations whose usage for business purposes is the largest.

The Day In Washington

President Harding, recovered from the grip, returned to his desk after more than a week's absence.

The senate began consideration of another rural credits proposal to the Lenroot-Anderson government aid bill.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, announced he would reintroduce his resolution requesting the President to call an international economic conference.

Mrs. John B. Henderson, widow of the late Senator Henderson, Missouri, offered the government a $500,000 newly constructed residence as a home for the vice president.

Authority would be given the President under a bill introduced by Senator Brockhard, Republican, Iowa, to take over and operate coal mines in an emergency.

Senate proponents of the administration shipping bill failed in an effort to obtain unanimous consent to curb debate so that an early vote on the measure could be obtained.

Cash and stock dividend payments by the Texas company, one of the largest "independents" since its organization in 1922, totaled $116,727,000, Amos L. Peaty, its president, testified at the senate oil investigation.

Taking cognizance of reports that "embassy liquor" was reaching bootleggers, treasury officials were understood to have called the attention of the state department to certain "unusual shipments" of intoxicants to consulates and legations.

Secretary Hughes informed the senate foreign relations committee that Roland W. Boyden, unofficial American observer with the reparations commission, had been instructed to refrain from expressing an opinion of proposals before the commission and in the absence of instructions not to offer suggestions.

Announcement was made that Elliott Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury, would represent the United States at the inter-allied conference which will convene in Paris March 1 to consider adjustment of payments by Germany for the maintenance of troops of other governments on the Rhine.

The house by a vote of 264 to 77, approved the action of its judiciary committee in giving a clean bill of health to Attorney General Daugherty on the Keller impeachment charges.

DR. P. S. GRANT SENDS REPLY TO MANNING

Quotes Ecclesiastical Authorities for Statements He Made From Pulpit

PLEAS FOR LIBERTY

Uses St. Paul's Words, "Where Spirit of Lord Is, There Is Liberty"

New York, Jan. 25.—Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, whose recent sermon denying the divinity of Christ brought from Bishop William T. Manning a demand that he "recant or resign" tonight replied to the bishop with a long letter quoting ecclesiastical authorities for the statements he made, and concluding: "If at any time I have seemed to express myself crudely, I sincerely regret it."

Dr. Grant neither recanted nor offered to resign his rectory. His letter was a 10-page plea for enlightenment and liberty for the pulpit. In one place he quoted the following "sober words of Bishop Gore in a book which last Lent you (Bishop Manning) commended to the diocese: 'It is pitiful to see how many there are among the professed ministers of Christ who, in an hour of popular discussion of some vital truth, are proved, by their perplexity or dismay, or by their un instructed denials, never to have thought at all seriously or deeply about most momentous questions.'"

In concluding, Dr. Grant said: "I would say ex animo with St. Paul, that the Lord (that is, the Christ of experience), is the spirit. Might I venture to add the conclusion of his sentence? 'Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.'"

As a postscript, Dr. Grant added: "In accordance with the example set by you, I am giving copies of this letter to the press."

Dr. Grant told newspaper men that he was sending the letter to Bishop Manning tonight by special messenger. The bishop could not be reached to learn if he had accepted it.

The letter opens with a reference to "the miraculous elements of the gospel." Of this, Dr. Grant said: "I cannot love God with my mind and at the same time believe that the laws of nature were ever violated; for the simple reason that God himself has taught me, as he is teaching all our sons and daughters in every modern university of the western world today, that these laws are immutable throughout eternity. It is not in the remotest degree that I question His power. It is simply a matter of evidence. If you reply that in the gospel miracles, laws of which we have no knowledge were set in operation, I must answer that in such cases the alleged events ceased to be miracles. Should your hypothetical contention turn out to be true in fact, with all the lovers of truth, I would rejoice in such revelation. But of this there is as yet not a scintilla of evidence. In the miracles of healing, many of the laws employed by Christ have today been made own to us, but we thereby realize clearly that such works are not contrary to, but in accordance with law."

A meeting of officers held in Washington last December condemned General Hart's attitude, it was said. At last night's meeting, by a sharply divided vote, General Hart was upheld. More than 100 officers attended.

END NEAR IN NEAR EAST CONFERENCE

Conclusion at End of Next Week Probable, With Gate Left Open for Further Work

(By the Associated Press.)

Lausanne, Jan. 25.—Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, declined tonight to comment on the announced allied project to adjourn the Near Eastern conference by the end of next week, whether peace was significant of their plans will have sufficient psychological pressure to induce the Turks to yield on the disputed points.

Both French and Italian allies, rather reluctantly to the procedure laid down by the British, and they were careful to say tonight that there could be no question of a definite rupture which would lead to renewed war, but all will depend on the nature of the reply the Turks give when the allied treaty is definitely presented.

Marquis D'IGRATTI, of Italy, said tonight that the door to peace would be left open, even after the adjournment of the conference without definite results, because the allies stand ready to return to Lausanne if there seems any chance of reaching an accord. Both the French and Italians are striving desperately to save the conference.

The French have made many concessions in financial and economical affairs which affect them more than the others. The Italians have worked out a more conciliatory formula for judicial guarantees for foreigners, which they think the Turks will accept. There is great nervousness, and some depression, however, in conference circles generally.

The British announced tonight that all discussion for the conference will end Saturday night. The allied draft treaty will be presented to the Turks Wednesday, the intervening time being devoted to the completion of the draft.

GERMANS REGRET YANKS REMOVAL

Flag Is Reminder of Democratic Ideals From Which Republic Sought to Draw Inspiration

(By the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Does the hauling down of the Stars and Stripes at Ehrenbreitstein signify definite and complete "uninterestedness" in European affairs? This is only one of the many questions agitating the German officials and people.

Editorial comments frankly reflect disappointment over the withdrawal of the American troops, whose presence in the Rhineland during the latter years is viewed as contributing one of the few consoling aspects of the occupation situation. At government headquarters the departure of the last American regiments is viewed as an historical event of wide significance to both Europe and the United States.

Official opinion was informally summed up today by Baron von Hoesberg, the foreign minister. In the course of a discussion with the Associated Press correspondent, the minister expressed the hope that the evacuation would not mark the beginning of relaxation of American interests and responsibility in European affairs.

"In voicing the regret at the departure of the Americans from Coblenz," he said, "this government is reflecting the sincere sentiment of the great mass of the German people, of whom the mere thought of military occupancy at first naturally meant sorrow and apprehension. But as the years of occupancy drew on we gradually came to look upon the Stars and Stripes at Ehrenbreitstein as the active symbol of American interest and participation in Europe's post war problems."

The American flag, a German soil, in the minister's opinion, was a reminder of "those democratic ideals from which the young and struggling German republic sought to draw inspiration, as well as the hope that the motives which enlisted America in the war and which subsequently found reiteration in her peace program, would soon be released in their full fruition for the benefit of war-stricken Europe."

The formal ceremony of departure took place at 4:40 o'clock when a company of the 25th Belgian Infantry with its band lined up alongside the Stars and Stripes. The band played the Belgian and the American national anthems. Minister of War Devos, accompanied by General Jaquet, representing King Albert, and the Burgomaster of Antwerp, Dr. Fromm, accompanied by General De Weert, the Belgian minister of the interior, and the American minister, George S. Messersmith, approached the flag and the American colors.

APPOINTMENT OF MOSS CAUSES ROW

Threatens to Split Personnel of National Guard and Reserve Away From Army

New York, Jan. 25.—A row in the quartermaster corps, growing out of the appointment of Colonel James A. Moss, retired, as head of the official publication of the service, "The Quartermaster Review," has assumed such serious proportions that it threatens to split the personnel of the reserve and National Guard away from the regular army, it was learned today when an all-night meeting of the New York chapter of the Quartermasters' association at the 71st regiment armory broke up.

Three brigadier generals—A. C. Dalton, J. M. Carson and John B. Bellinger—came here from Washington to attend the meeting.

The trouble started, it was said, when Major General William H. Hart, quartermaster general of the army, attempted to curtail the powers of Colonel Moss on the ground that they made an inactive officer too much of a factor in the service. Colonel Moss is well known because of his manuals and military writings.

A meeting of officers held in Washington last December condemned General Hart's attitude, it was said. At last night's meeting, by a sharply divided vote, General Hart was upheld. More than 100 officers attended.

HOUSE APPROVES ACTION IN CLEARING DAUGHTERY CASE

Washington, Jan. 25.—The house, by a vote of 264 to 77, approved tonight the action of its judiciary committee in giving Attorney General Daugherty a clean bill of health on the impeachment charges brought against him by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota.

Without a roll call and by practically an unanimous vote, it adopted also a resolution discharging the committee from further consideration of the charges and laying the Keller impeachment resolution on the table. The two votes were regarded as having the effect of closing the incident.

The question of whether the house has the constitutional power to compel a member to testify before its committees was left undecided. This issue was raised in the midst of the judiciary committee hearings when Mr. Keller refused to respond to a subpoena served on him after withdrawing from further participation in the proceedings.

The committee, in its report, took the position that the house could punish Mr. Keller by imprisonment or otherwise until he did testify, the terms of imprisonment, however, not to extend beyond this session of congress, but it made no recommendation on the subject, nor did the house take direct action upon it.

COW AND PIG FOR BUD.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—Following suggestions that a cow and pig be placed in the Municipal pen, because many St. Louis children have never seen a mother, Superintendent of Inspection Maddox instructed a staff of sixth grade pupils. Today he announced that of 3,776 children questioned, 10 per cent had never seen a sheep, and 11 per cent had never looked upon a pig. Twelve children out of every 100 had never seen a cow.

YANKS LEAVE FOR HOMETLAND LAST EVENING

Final Contingent of World War Veterans Sail From Antwerp Amid Cheers

76 WIVES ON BOARD

21 Children Also on St. Mihiel; Many Tokens of Affection From Belgians

(By the Associated Press.)

Antwerp, Jan. 25.—Moving slowly down the river Scheldt tonight on the way home aboard the American transport St. Mihiel, the last contingent of the troops who represented the United States in the World War.

The troops moved here this morning from the Coblenz headquarter and embarked on the transport, which started her voyage for Savannah at 8:20 o'clock this afternoon.

With soldiers lining her rails singing farewell songs and shouting greetings of goodbye, groups of friends on shore stood in the dim light of the early darkness and waved their adieu.

Then the propellers of the St. Mihiel began to churn the waters and slowly moved on her way toward the lowlands of the Scheldt and was soon lost to view at the Royal Palace, still wending her way toward Flushing, which will be reached about midnight. From Flushing the wide sea opens the way for home and the signal bells will register "full speed ahead."

PARENTS LACK LIFE FOR SON

Swedish Scientist Advances Theory of Light Arising Through Radioactivity.
TELLS OF SOLAR CONDITIONS
Dead Celestial Bodies May Flame Up Again if They Wander Into Regions Where Production of a Heat Taking Place.
Stockholm.—The sun can keep on shining at the present rate for another 50,000,000,000 years, and if human culture is to perish it will not be for lack of sunshine. This startling and unorthodox statement was made in the course of a recent lecture by Dr. Svante Arrhenius, the Swedish authority on astrophysics, in which he explained certain theories and discoveries regarding solar conditions.
"Suppose the sun were a mass of coal," said Doctor Arrhenius, in order to illustrate his problem. "Giving forth heat energy at the present rate, it could then have lasted only 4,000 years, or about half as long as the period of known human history. But since there were living things of some kind on earth at least 1,000,000,000 years ago, and since there has evidently been very little deterioration of the sun during that period of time, any theory of the expenditure of solar energy must provide for upward of 100,000,000,000 years."
His Theory of Light.
Though it is difficult to interpret Doctor Arrhenius in popular language, it may be of interest to state his general theory. Heavenly bodies begin as cold nebulous masses of hydrogen, helium and the so-called nebulae. Light then arises through radioactivity. The hydrogen is condensed to form the other two elements, helium and nebulium, and from these develop a whole series of heavier elements, the most abundant of which is iron.
After this stage has been passed, the radioactive elements again resolve themselves into unstable elements and produce helium. This chemical process, going on in cycles, accounts for the lavish production of light and heat by the sun.
What becomes of dead stars and stars? Doctor Arrhenius replied to this question that celestial bodies which have burned out may flame up again in case they happen to wander into nebulous regions where condensation and production of heat again takes place. Thus he explained the discovery of new stars.
Doctor Arrhenius paid a tribute to the successful work of American astronomers, remarking wistfully that, in addition to bright skies, they are also and experiment.

HARTWICK MAN HURT.
George Hughes Has Ribs Broken While Unloading Coal.
Hartwick, Jan. 25.—George Hughes, a well-known resident of this place, had the misfortune a few days ago to receive quite serious injuries while unloading coal at the trolley power house. He had several ribs broken and is bruised about the hip and arm. Dr. Schockcraft attends him. It will probably be several weeks before he will be able to be at work again.

DELHI NEWS
Delhi, Jan. 25.—On account of the recent death of his wife, Dr. W. Shaw will close his home here for the remainder of the winter and stay at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anson Huntley, at South Kortright. He expects to return to Delhi for the summer as soon as spring opens. Mr. and Mrs. John Shorall have been spending the winter in Onondaga, having accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Pease, to the city. Mrs. Pease will pass the remainder of the winter there with her sister, Mrs. Sarah Frisbie. Howard Young of Spring Lake, who has pneumonia, is doing well under care of Miss Lillian Carman, nurse. Mrs. Young's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis, of South Onondaga, and their son, are with the family. George Young of this village, Howard Frisbie, a former East Delhi boy, son of the late Luther Frisbie, who died in the winter went to Albuquerque, New Mexico, for his health, is already being much benefited by the change of climate. Mr. Frisbie's mother and sister are living in Onondaga where the latter is attending school.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR
Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Co., answers ten questions, asked a thousand times every day
1—Will Ford be the next president of the United States?
I do not know.
2—When will the saturation point in motor cars be reached?
When every one has one and some ever want one, and they stop buying boys.
3—Will the motor car industry be hampered by any large corporation?
You cannot corner heating or hard work. The Standard Oil Company will confirm that statement.
4—If 3,000,000 automobiles are built this year how can we find room for them on the streets?
By following the example of London and Paris, eliminating surface street cars, substituting the bus unit, establishing parking areas outside of the congested district, introducing one-way streets and riding in two passenger taxicabs.
5—What is the determining factor in the survival of companies in the automobile industry?
Quality of service built into the motor car which enables the driver to sell the second hand car at a profit.
6—What will be the next big development in motor car construction?
The general adoption of the light-weight, high-grade, economical motor car by the leading manufacturers, because economy is the basis of everything.
7—How many automobiles will be built in 1927?
At least 3,000,000, because Ford is getting out for 6,500 a day. The rest of the industry will build at least 1,000,000, or half of what Ford produces.
8—What is the greatest thing that ever happened in the motor car industry?
The reduction of the Ford price to $298 will create 1,000,000 new users and take hundreds of thousands of residents of the congested areas out into the country where they can have a garden and plenty of fresh air.
9—What will be the mechanical specifications of the leading motor cars five years from now?
No one will care anything about that. If you doubt that let any one in the class tell me the present mechanical specifications of the FORD, the Dodge, the Buick, the Packard or the Cadillac. Only old-fashioned salesmen will be able to answer those questions.
10—What will be the capacity of the majority of motor cars eventually?
The average number of passengers carried in all cars is now 1.7. A man stationed on all the principal corners of the country count passengers carried in cars of those who are automobiles discovered that the Greatest Seven Passenger Car is the Ford.

THE AIR SERVICE
 "Aviators, who loop over cities, execute dives and do other spectacular stunts in the air are greater criminals than chauffeurs who drive at excessive speed through crowded streets," is the positive assertion of Herbert C. Doyle, who is treasurer of one of the largest automobile corporations in the country. His statement is in line with growing conviction on the part of the public as a whole, which has witnessed with growing concern, particularly in populous sections of the country, the increased number of planes and the naturally continued increase in the attendant danger. In order that this danger may to a large degree be eliminated, Senator Wadsworth has introduced a bill in the senate, creating a Bureau of Civil Aeronautics in the Department of Commerce and providing for due regulation of air-traffic. This measure, Mr. Doyle believes, is the most important step ever taken toward the development of peace-time aviation in the United States. Moreover it is believed that justice pending aviation safer, it will make for more general use of air-traffic, particularly of a type, speed and price within the reach of the general public.

THE AIR SERVICE
 In this connection it is affirmed that the development of peace-time aviation will require a radical change in the type of planes. Thus far, and largely of course on account of the great war which came close on the heels of aircraft development, planes have for the most part been built for military purposes, everything else, proper considerations of safety have been assumed to speed and power. At this time, it is believed, there will be radical changes. In aviation, much has been done in the past three years—the racing cars, the airplanes for ordinary vehicular traffic, and the heavier bombers and planes, which are the racing machines and the fighters are the swiftest and most dependable of cars.

THE AIR SERVICE
 To this time the principal requirement of the airplane seems to have been that it should be able swiftly to get through the air. In other words the plane had been a racer. From this time on it is asserted, the plane service will be transformed, and the air machine will make safety the first consideration, with ease of operation and in landing, when this comes about it may be that fliers of the air may be as generally used as are motor-cars, upon the highways.

THE AIR SERVICE
 To bring all these things about, and some others, in the way of the air-traffic bill, which provides safe traffic rules of all pilots and owners of aircraft, prescribes rules for taking and altitudes, signals for land and water structures, air routes and other navigation facilities, rules as to safe altitude and as to flights, prohibits reckless flying by heavy fines and imprisonment, and prohibits spectacular stunts where they may imperil the lives either of those in the car or of people on the ground.

THE AIR SERVICE
 All these are proper steps toward the stabilizing of the air service, and if such legislation is enacted life will be protected and we will have gone a long way toward taking aviation out of the realm of war use or expensive and dangerous diversion and toward making a great invention generally useful to the public as a means of safe and relatively cheap passenger and freight transportation.

BIG FIRE NEAR MORRIS.

Large Farm Barn of Harry Edgerton Destroyed with Horse and Entire Dairy.

Morris, Jan. 25.—Fire this evening completely destroyed the large barn on the farm of Harry Edgerton about two miles from Morris on the road to New Berlin. The fire broke out at about 6 o'clock and the flames spread with such rapidity that but little could be saved.

The entire dairy, which was of considerable size, was destroyed as well as two or three horses, farm wagons and implements and all the crops in the barn. The loss is partially covered with insurance.

The fire caught from a lantern while Mr. Edgerton was in the barn doing the chores. Whether the lantern exploded or was tipped over could not be ascertained this evening. Neighbors responded but could do little. The Morris fire department was summoned but unable to reach the scene.

Mr. Edgerton lost another large barn about a year ago. It was struck by lightning and totally destroyed in the ensuing fire.

Young Boy is Molested by Cow.
 Oswego, Jan. 25.—A young boy, chased by dogs a long distance yesterday, took refuge in the cow stream of the water way to the electric plant at Lanesboro and would have drowned had it not been for William Spooner and Harold Gates.

The boy held of the cow by the ears and pulled her to shore. The animal was so frightened and chilled that she could not stand.

Spooner and Gates carried the boy to Thomas Carr's barn and placed him in straw. Before they could get a blanket over her, a cow made her way to the baby door and began to suck her. The cow was then driven from hand to foot, and the boy was placed in a warm bed.

The boy, who was about 10 years old, was able to walk after a short rest. He is in large quantities of medicine and will be kept under observation.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

A Rhineland Plan.
 Events in the Rhine have given new impetus to the movement to establish an independent Rhineland state. Dr. Dietrich, the head of the Rhineland republic, set up for a few weeks in 1912, with Washington as its capital, has reappeared in London and is organizing a separatist movement there. A separatist party convention was held recently in one of the other Rhine towns.—[New York Tribune.]

Moore's Code for Chapter Homes.
 The Building Code committee of the Department of Commerce named by Governor Hoover to draw up a safe standard building code for chapter homes has done a work of utmost importance to millions of Americans. Briefly, 60 per cent of our city building codes require excessive factors of safety in respect to the thickness of brick walls and in other details known to experts. In the old days this did not matter so much.—[New York World.]

Uncle Joe's Last Report.
 After service of more than forty years as a member of the Appropriations committee in the House of Representatives, the Hon. Joseph Gurney Cannon, whose tradition of friendship with Uncle Joe is about to retire from congressional life, and has just reported his last appropriation bill. This final measure provides nearly fifteen millions for Capitol expenses, the Library of Congress, the government printing office and other important items.—[New York Sun.]

Reckless Shooting of Birds.
 Cannot some way be found to stop the shooting of birds for the sole purpose of determining skill with the rifle? The Hercules trophy, for instance, in the Great Eastern handicap, which was shot off the other day, near Reading, Pa., resulted in the destruction of no less than 100 birds by the eight leading competitors. And who is a particle the better for this inhuman sacrifice?—[Christian Science Monitor.]

No Trade in Islands.

With a fairly good imitation of action, Senator Reed is proposing or suggesting or demanding that our British and French friends pay their debts to us, or a part of them, by transferring to us their possessions in the West Indies.

Both France and England have said, or seemed it to be said, that they were not in the real estate business—a statement at which the Muse of History smiles broadly—and that never would they do such a dreadful thing as would be the selling of much-loved islands even to a purchaser so highly respected as the United States.

Over here the common feeling is that we already have a sufficiency of islands, near and remote, large and small, and that our desire for adding to the collection has to be expressed with a minus sign.—[New York Times.]

A STORY OR TWO

William Doublier is noted for his scarcity of cash, says London Tit-Bits. While he was seated at a lonely breakfast table in his club one morning a debt collector broke in through the door, and presented his bill. "Sir," said William, glaring at him, "is that all you know of the usage of decent society? To present a bill to a man breakfasting?" Do you know that you are an intruder in this club, sir? Do you know I could call the servants and have you thrown out? If you wish to talk business go outside and send in your card. The collector went out and sent in his card. William picked it up between thumb and forefinger, adjusted his monocle and read it. "Tell the gentleman," he said, sweetly, "that I am not in."

The Pittsburgh Sun tells the story of a small boy who was sent to church by his father with a nickel and a dollar bill in his pocket. "You are to put what you please in the offering, my boy. Listen to the sermon and make it in accordance with the impression made upon you." "What did you put in the box?" his father asked. "The nickel. I was going to put in the other when I remembered what the clergyman said in his sermon." "What was that?" "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, was talking at a luncheon about knighthood, says London Answers. "Knighthood," he said, "is quite a complicated subject. Very few people understand the various types of knighthood, their significance and so forth. A young lady once said to a gentleman: 'What are the Knights of the Bath?'"

"Why," the young gentleman answered, "why, Saturday nights, of course."

Searched for James Woods.

About seven o'clock last evening the police were informed that James Woods, a school teacher, had not returned from school. Sergeant O'Dell and Officer Terrell immediately started a search of the coasting places in the city, and, failing to find any information of the missing man, search was made of the parks and along the river. The lad has very poor eyes and considerable alarm was felt. However, a neighbor found the boy later in the evening and returned him to his home, hungry but happy.

Dr. Frederick C. Ferry on the Advantages of Fruit in the Diet.

As the multiple quantity in relation with time and the best in the mechanical and agricultural sciences with Cornell, so do we connect ourselves with the fruit of the year. The season of the year is the season of the year. The season of the year is the season of the year. The season of the year is the season of the year.

Oneonta is to be favored this evening by having the president of this institution address the Men's club of the Presbyterian church. Dr. Frederick C. Ferry has been connected with various phases of college teaching since 1895. He has studied at three of America's greatest universities. Besides this he has had the opportunity of being a student for three years at four different European universities. He is acknowledged as an authority in many fields. For 15 years he was dean of Williams college and since giving up that position has been president of Hamilton.

Everyone who has heard Dr. Ferry speak has been pleased with his forcible style and his interesting analysis of current problems. He uses his breadth of knowledge and experience to make human and concrete important everyday problems. Everyone who is privileged to attend this banquet is assured of a great intellectual treat.

primary ballot in the annual meeting of Commerce election of directors were received yesterday by the members, each of whom is entitled to one vote. The 14 members receiving the highest number of votes stand in the final election, when the winner will be chosen.

Attention of members is called to errors in the mailing. One is an inadvertent omission of the name Henry C. Sherman from the membership roster, caused when the list typed in reverse alphabetical order. The second is the numbered envelopes should give the time for casting of the polls as 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, January 31, the envelopes issued for the final election having a notation by mistake.

Eight directors whose terms hold should not be voted for. They are Owen C. Becker, Roscoe C. Taylor, Reginald E. Brigham, A. E. Carter, Edward Croves, George J. Smith, Frank G. Sherman, and Ralph Wyckoff.

The election committee of which J. P. Rice is chairman will meet Wednesday evening to canvass ballots to determine the nominees.

NEXT WEEK FRIDAY
 The week from next Friday is Candlemas day, the day of the feast of the dedication of the Virgin Mary. On this day it is supposed to come out in a hole, after remaining in a state of torpor for several weeks, and if he his shadow he goes back and remains six weeks longer, during which we are likely to be shoveling coal substitutes on the furnace snow from the walks and covering generally to keep warm. The nursery and dairymen usually believe if they have half their hay left on this particular time they will have half to take their stock through to time when grass is sufficiently abundant to take its place. Watch and see what Old Sol does to us this date.
